Census duty increases workload of govt teachers

ANUSHKA BHARDWAJ
New Delhi, 7 May

The day has just become longer — a lot longer — for Devika Kumari, a government school teacher in Delhi. She's not marking exam papers — rather, she is going door-to-door with survey questions in Delhi's searing heat.

Kumari is part of an army of over three million — most of them government school teachers — who have been tasked to conduct the world's biggest enumeration exercise, Census 2027.

"I live in Ghaziabad. The survey area which I have been assigned is almost 1.5 hours away from my home. I am surveying until 7 pm before heading home," said Kumari. Census duty has seen the workload for many teachers like her increase to 12-13 hours a day.

Door-to-door surveys have already begun in the jurisdictions of the New Delhi Municipal Council and Delhi Cantonment, where teachers have now been asked to add weekends to their workdays in order to meet the May 15 deadline. In the current phase, enumerators are tasked with the Housing and Housing Census which will be followed by the Population Enumeration.

"Of course the weather is a huge problem for us. But it is also the long hours, no rest days, lack of safety and travel facilities, and a sense of disapproval shown by some households, which makes the entire process exhausting," said Atul Nath Desai, another teacher in Delhi as he joined his teammates for Census training.

"Teaching can still be managed with physical tiredness, but mental fatigue is the actual cost that the teachers are paying. It is either a 13-hour shift if the school is open or sacrificing the summer vacations," said Ajay Veer Yadav, general secretary, Government School Teachers Association.

Delhi is not alone — as India starts its biggest counting exercise after almost 15 years, it puts the focus on the challenges faced by enumerators across the country.

In Odisha, where the exercise started on April 16, two on-field enumerators have died from heatstroke. Further, a few cases of violence have been reported in the last 10 days, as many households in rural areas remain suspicious.

"Minor cases of violence are not even reported. Security is a major issue," said Pradeep Pradhan, president, NPS Secondary School Teachers Association, Bhubaneswar. "Starting time is around 7 am but there's no clarity on when it ends.

The long count

16th Census in India's history; 8th after Independence

■ To be carried out in two phases, with a gap of 6 to 8 months

3 million enumerators, supervisors to conduct exercise

1.35 billion people to be enumerated across the country

■ 12-13 hour workdays reported by teachers on duty

Targets are to be met and it can take the entire day," he said.

Enumerators will get a total of ₹25,000 for their work, of which ₹9,000 will be paid when they complete their duty and the remaining ₹16,000 after the completion of the census in February 2027. The questionnaire, which is now digital, comprises 33 questions, including those around housing conditions, amenities, asset ownership, and access to the internet.

The challenge also lies in the complexity and the length of the questionnaire. According to Pronab Sen, former chief statistician of India, "This is the only comprehensive survey that we have. Most of the questions go beyond direct answers and require interpretation. This is adding on to the pressure faced by the enumerators."

Unlike the National Sample Survey, with its smaller number of enumerators, limited sample size, and more time for training, "We have a huge sample size, millions of enumerators, and a very short deadline." In Sen's view, stretching the deadline could increase the risk of double-counting due to frequent migration.

On digitisation, Sen said that it will upgrade and speed up the process, but added that it might make things tougher for enumerators. Pradhan of Bhubaneswar said. "There are internet glitches in rural areas. Teachers are first writing and then feeding on the mobile, its double work. They are using their own resources for the process."

A full year of duties

Most of the teachers Business Standard spoke to accepted that Census duty alone is not a major concern. "Election is mostly a five-yearly thing and it (election duty) does not bother us much, but there are hundreds of other non-academic tasks that eat into teaching time," said Ajit Yadav, member of Haryana Vidyalyaya Adhyapak Sangh. "In Haryana, most primary schools have less than five teachers. If two to three go out for government duties, who will manage the school?"

The National Education Policy 2020 mandates sharing of school resources, which, according to a government official, can help tackle such situations. "A framework is in place that schools can share teachers and manage the temporary crunch," the government official said.

Under section 27 of the Right to Education Act, 2009, teachers are prohibited from doing non-academic duties — with the exception of elections and Census. However, teachers across the country list a number of non-teaching duties they perform on a daily basis, many of them due to a lack of clerical staff — everything from mock drills to medicine distribution, social awareness campaigns like literacy, and mid-day meal duties.

"We get only rice for the mid-day meal. For things like eggs, dal etc, we have to go to the market to procure," said Pradhan.

In India, there are over 100,000 schools that work on a single-teacher model. "Single-teacher schools have no option but to shut during these activities," said professor Arun C Mehta, founder, academic research platform, Education for All.

NITI Aayog flags gaps in school education system, calls for reforms

Stronger foundational learning initiatives, better teacher management, and wider use of digital and AI-enabled learning recommended

AUHONA MUKHERJEE
New Delhi, 7 May

The NITI Aayog has flagged fragmented school structures, gaps in learning outcomes, uneven infrastructure, teacher workforce shortages, and governance weaknesses as major challenges facing India's school education system. At the same time, it has recommended reforms such as composite school complexes, stronger foundational learning initiatives, improved teacher management, and wider use of digital and AI-enabled learning.

The government's public policy think tank has said discontinuity across school stages, the prevalence of small and single-teacher schools, and infrastructure gaps continue to affect access and quality, according to its report titled "School Education System in India: Temporal Analysis and Policy Roadmap for Quality Enhancement". The report also noted gaps in equity and inclusion, including issues related to socioeconomically disadvantaged groups and children with special needs.

"The Indian school system shows significant fragmentation across levels, resulting in hampering the continuity of schooling and the efficiency of educational delivery. These challenges are not isolated but are embedded in the design and distribution of schools across the country and lead to persistent gaps in access, retention, and learning," the report said.

It highlighted attrition of students as they go through successive stages of schooling as a key issue. The gross enrolment ratio (GER) stands at 90.9 per cent at the primary level but

Key concerns

- Gross enrollment ratio falls from 90.9% at primary to 58.4% at higher secondary level
- Over one-third of schools have fewer than 50 students
- Gaps in inclusion for disadvantaged groups, children with special needs, says report falls to 78.7 per cent at the secondary level, and even further to 58.4 per cent at the higher secondary level. "This indicates that nearly four out of every 10 children who enter the school system are unable to continue through to higher secondary education," added the report.

According to the report, India has 14.71 lakh schools serving 24.69 crore students and more than one crore teachers. Government schools account for 68.1 per cent of all schools and enrol 49.2 per cent of students, while private schools account for 23.1 per cent of schools and 38.8 per cent of enrolment, showed data from the report.

The report said foundational literacy and numeracy indicators have improved after the pandemic, but gaps remain in conceptual understanding and application-based learning, particularly among rural, tribal, and economically disadvantaged students. It also flagged uneven digital access in smaller and remote schools, and said schools for children with special needs require additional inclusive infrastructure and support systems.

It noted that over one-third of Indian schools have less than 50 students, with around 5.1 per cent having enrolment below 10, and another 8 per cent in the 11-20 range. "The small size of these schools has made their operation economically inefficient and administratively challenging, particularly with respect to teacher deployment and the provision of essential physical infrastructure," it added.

Draft mental health policy to tackle cyberbullying, stress in schools

AUHONA MUKHERJEE
New Delhi, 7 May

The Ministry of Education is working on a mental health policy for school students that will focus on strengthening school-based mental health support systems, improving communication between schools and parents, and addressing emerging concerns such as cyberbullying and cybercrime involving minors.

According to officials aware of the matter, the draft policy is in the final stages of preparation and is likely to be placed in the public domain for consultation in the first week of June.

"We are almost in the last stage, and we will be putting it in the public domain very shortly," said a senior official, adding that the framework is being developed in consultation with states.

At present, India does not have a dedicated mental health support policy across the school system. The National Education Policy 2020 highlights the importance of mental health alongside children's nutrition and overall well-being.

The move comes amid growing concern over student mental health challenges, including stress-related issues and rising cases of cyberbullying and online harassment. "Cyberbullying has become extremely worrisome now, with several complaints being received from schools," the official said. A key element of the proposed policy is the emphasis on early identification and intervention within schools.

Cybercrime cases in India rose sharply in 2024, with a total of 101,928 cases registered, marking a 17.9 per cent increase over 2023, when 86,420 cases were recorded, according to the latest data from the National Crime Records Bureau. The crime rate under this category also climbed to 7.3 in 2024 from 6.2 in 2023.

Bharat Forge takes ₹450 cr EV hit on Tork Motors, bets on defence & exports

Amit Vijay Mohile
Mumbai

Baba Kalyani, Chairman and MD, Bharat Forge

Bharat Forge Ltd on Thursday signalled a reset in its electric mobility strategy after taking a ₹450 crore impairment linked to its EV business and Tork Motors, even as the company projected around 25 per cent revenue growth in FY27 driven by recovering exports, defence orders and aerospace momentum.

The forging and industrial major reported a standalone net loss of ₹258.8 crore in Q4 FY26 against a profit of ₹319.6 crore in Q4 FY25, largely due to the exceptional impairment charge tied to investments in Kalyani Powertrain Ltd's e-mobility division.

"The ₹450 crore impairment during the quarter of our investments in KPPL is an acceptance of the need to take a fresh look at how we address the EV opportunity as the EV adoption globally has changed significantly," Chairman and Managing Director Baba Kalyani said in the investor presentation.

SIGNS OF RECOVERY

On a consolidated basis, Bharat Forge reported revenue from operations of ₹4,528 crore in Q4 FY26, up 17.5 per cent from ₹3,853 crore in the year-ago quarter. Consolidated EBITDA rose to ₹774 crore (₹671 crore) supported by improving exports and stronger operational performance across businesses.

On a standalone basis, revenue from operations rose 4.5 per cent year-on-year to ₹2,260 crore, while revenue improved 8.5 per cent sequentially from ₹2,083 crore in Q3 FY26.

EBITDA stood at ₹610 crore (₹629 crore), while

EBITDA margin narrowed to 27 per cent from 29.1 per cent due to product mix changes.

For the full year FY26, Bharat Forge's standalone revenue declined 5.1 per cent to ₹8,396 crore as global commercial vehicle demand and exports remained weak for much of the year.

EXPORT REVENUE

Export revenue for FY26 fell 15.2 per cent to ₹4,011 crore from ₹4,728 crore in FY25 due to inventory correction by North American truck customers.

Standalone EBITDA declined 8.4 per cent to ₹2,312 crore from ₹2,524 crore, while profit before tax before exceptional items fell 8.3 per cent to ₹1,826 crore from ₹1,992 crore.

On a consolidated basis, Bharat Forge reported FY26 revenue of ₹16,812 crore, up 11.2 per cent from ₹15,123 crore in FY25, while EBITDA increased 5.9 per cent to ₹2,921 crore.

NEW ORDERS

The company secured new orders worth ₹4,814 crore during FY26, including ₹2,816 crore in defence orders. Bharat Forge's defence order book stood at ₹10,961 crore at the end of FY26.

The board recommended a final dividend of ₹6.5 per equity share for FY26.

Somnath and Bharat's unconquerable spirit!

NARENDRA MODI

At the start of 2026, I had gone to Somnath for the Somnath Swabhiman Parv, marking a thousand years since the first attack on the temple.

I will be back in Somnath on May 11 to mark 75 years since the inauguration of the restored temple by the then President Dr Rajendra Prasad.

Somnath gives us a civilisational message. The vast sea before it evokes timelessness. The waves tell us that no matter how fierce the storms are or how turbulent the tides are, one can always rise again with dignity and strength. Our ancient scriptures say that "a pradakshina of the divine Prabhasa (Somnath) is equal to a pradakshina of the whole earth itself".

FIGHTING TYRANNY

It is fitting to remember the countless greats who stood firm in the face of tyranny.

There were Lakulisha and Soma Sarman, who transformed Prabhasa into a great centre of philosophy.

Chakravarti Maharaja Dharasena IV of Vallabhi built the second temple centuries ago. Bhima Deva, Jayapala and Anandapala will be remembered for defending civilisational honour against invasions. It is said Raja Bhoja too helped with reconstruction. Karna Deva and Siddharaja Jayasimha played a vital role in restoring Gujarat's political and cultural strength.

Bhava Brihaspati, Kumarpala Solanki and the Pashupata Acharyas rebuilt and sustained the shrine as a great centre of worship and learning. Vishaladeva Vaghela and Tripurantaka protected its intellectual and spiritual traditions. Mahipaladeva and Ra Khangar were instrumental in reviving worship after destruction.

Punyashlok Ahilyabai Holkar ensured the continuity of devotion in the most difficult of times. There were the Gaekwads of Baroda, who safeguarded the rights of pilgrims. Our soil is blessed to have nurtured brave personalities like Veer Hamirji Gohil and Veer Vegdaji Bhil, whose sacrifice and courage have become a part of Somnath's living memory.

In the 1940s, when the spirit of freedom swept across India and the foundations of a new republic were being laid under the leadership of towering figures like Sardar Patel, one thing continued to trouble him deeply — the condition of Somnath. On November 13, 1947, during Diwali, he stood next to the dilapidated ruins with sea water in his hands and said, "On this auspicious day of the (Gujarati) New Year, we have decided that Somnath should be reconstructed. You, people of Saurashtra, should do your best. This is a holy task in which all should participate."

CLARION CALL

On one clarion call of Sardar Patel, it was not only the people of Gujarat but also the whole of India that responded enthusiastically. Unfortunately, fate did not allow Sardar Patel to witness the fulfilment of the dream he so passionately championed. His vision was championed by KM Munshi, ably supported by the Jamsaheb of Nawanager. In 1951, when the temple was complete, it was decided to call the President, Dr Prasad, for the ceremony.

My mind also goes back to October 2001, when I had just taken over as Chief Minister. On October 31, 2001, the Jayanti of Sardar Patel, the Gujarat government had the honour of organising a programme to mark 50 years since the Somnath temple opened its doors. It coincided with the 125th birth anniversary celebrations of Sardar Patel.

During his speech on May 11, 1951, Dr Prasad said the temple proclaims to the world that anything with unparalleled faith and love cannot be destroyed. He also said the restoration of the temple was a fulfilment of Sardar Patel's dream, but taking that spirit forward, it is important that we restore prosperity to the lives of people.

This is the path we have been walking on. I consider it my good fortune that, inspired by the principle of 'vikas bhi, virasat bhi', our team has had the opportunity to equip our spiritual centres with the latest facilities while preserving their traditional character.

This, along with efforts to improve connectivity, ensures more people can visit them. It boosts the local economy, secures livelihoods and deepens the spirit of 'Ek Bharat, shreshtha Bharat.'

The struggles and sacrifices of those who laid down their lives to protect Somnath and those who rebuilt it time and again will never be forgotten.

Somnath will continue to stand tall in all its glory because the sense of unity and shared civilisational consciousness lives on in the hearts of every Indian. As a tribute to this, remembering the extraordinary courage of a thousand years, there will be special pujas at Somnath for the next thousand days. It is gladdening to see several people donating for these pujas as well.

I urge my fellow Indians to travel to Somnath in this special time.

'India not just a growth market, but a model for the future of retail'

Meenakshi Verma Ambwani
New Delhi

John Furner, Walmart Inc President & CEO

Walmart Inc President and Chief Executive Officer John Furner on Thursday said that the retail major looks at India as not just a growth market, but as a model for the future of retail. The Global Chief of Walmart, who is on a visit to India, said the country is a growth platform and a key global sourcing hub for Walmart. He noted that the company has already sourced $40 billion worth of goods from India.

Furner took over the reins at Walmart in February, replacing Doug McMillon. His visit comes at a time when PhonePe has received SEBI approval for listing at the bourses, while Flipkart is also said to be preparing for an IPO by next year.

In his remarks at an event held in Delhi, he noted, "After more than 30 years in India, we still believe we're early in our journey. That's because India represents something really powerful: a unique combination of entrepreneurship, leading edge sourcing and supply capabilities, and digital innovation. And that creates real opportunity — for all of us."

He said that Walmart is building an ecosystem that supports its customers' lives, with Flipkart enabling e-commerce access across the country, while PhonePe drives financial inclusion at scale. "Mynta is leading in fashion and digital engagement. Our sourcing teams are connecting Indian businesses to customers around the world. And our technology teams continue driving innovation across the enterprise. Together, we're creating a platform for growth — for sellers, suppliers, and entrepreneurs at every stage," Furner noted.

SOURCING MARKETS

"India is already one of our most important sourcing markets, with over $40 billion sourced across key categories. And we see even more ahead as more MSMEs join global supply chains and as more women-led and digital-first businesses grow," he noted.

Reiterating Walmart's commitment to India, Furner said the company believes strongly in India's growth story as it represents one of the most dynamic opportunities in global commerce today. He added that the company's Vriddhi programme supports 115,000 entrepreneurs with digital training, mentorship, and access to Walmart and Flipkart marketplaces.

Furner, on his maiden India visit, met Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday. Earlier in the week, he hosted a townhall meet at the Flipkart office in Bengaluru.
